But You, O Lord, are a God full of compassion, and gracious, longsuffering and abundant in mercy and truth. Psalm 86:15

Parental Patience

Being a parent is perhaps the world's best laboratory for learning patience. In fact, the younger the children, the greater the need for parental patience. Young children make the same bad choices over and over. Sometimes they forget; sometimes they willfully make the wrong choice; sometimes they are so young that they haven't had time to learn. Whatever the reason(s) for the wrong choice, parents need lots of patience.

Compare that situation to our relationship with God. We are His children, all of us at varying levels of maturity (Romans 8:14). Sometimes we forget what our Father God desires; sometimes we choose to disobey; sometimes we haven't learned what the Father's will is. Whatever the reason(s) for our wrong choice, God has to exercise great patience with us as we grow spiritually. More often than not, patience requires forgiveness. Because Jesus told Peter not to count instances of forgiveness (Matthew 18:21-22), we can assume God doesn't count either.

Depend on God's patience and forgiveness when you make a wrong choice (1 John 1:9). His fatherly love is manifested by His patience. As we celebrate Father's Day this month, let us remember God has given us an example to follow of what a loving Father is.

You can't go back and change the beginning, but you can start where you are and change the ending. C. S. Lewis

An Atheist's View on Life

I will live my life according to these beliefs God does not exist It is just foolish to think That there is a God with a cosmic plan

That an all-Powerful God brings redemption and healing to the pain and suffering in the world Is a comforting thought, however

Is only wishful thinking People can do as they please without eternal consequences

The idea that I am deserving of Hell Because of sin

Is a lie meant to make me a slave to those in power "The more you have, the happier you will be" Our existence has no grand meaning or purpose In a world with no God There is freedom to be who I want to be But with God

Everything is fine It is ridiculous to think I am lost and in need of saving.
